Software Engineer/Associate Software Engineer

With a focus on E&M engineering solutions and services for transit and auto fare collection systems in Hong Kong, KML provides one-stop service from design, fabrication, installation and maintenance services to its clients. Embracing innovation, we harness the power of cutting-edge technologies like artificial intelligence to create intelligent devices and enhance our products.

Discover endless possibilities with us! Take this opportunity to work with technical experts on design and development of large-scale system for payment solution and various IT system solutions. KML provide a supportive culture, cutting-edge technology and exciting projects. Join our team today!

What you will:

- Responsible for software related activities including: Design, Coding, Testing, Deployment, Maintenance and Documentation etc.
- Provide support to the team

What will make you success:

- Higher Diploma or above in Electronic Engineering/ Electrical Engineering/ Information Engineering or related disciplines
- Hands-on experience in C++/C#/Python on both Windows and Linux environment
- Knowledge in iOS/Android App development
- Knowledge in IoT
- Knowledge in AI Robotic design and development on ROS is an advantage
- Knowledge in web application development with Django, React, Node.js is an advantage
- Knowledge in embedded Windows/Linux server Administration is an advantage
- Knowledge in electronic and related hardware interface is an advantage
- Attention to details, fast learner, good team player, autonomous and reliable
- Good communication skills in both spoken and written English and Chinese, fluency in Mandarin is definitely an advantage
- Willing to travel occasionally
- Fresh graduate is also welcome

We offer:

- A friendly, dynamic environment in an ongoing expansion business
- Career prospects and opportunity of personal continuous development
- Competitive remuneration package + discretionary bonus
- 5-day work week, medical insurance, full-pay sick leave and paid marriage leave

Interested parties, please apply with full resume, date availability, current and expected salary to the Human Resources Department.

All personal data provided will be treated in strict confidence and used for recruitment purposes only.